

Elm Creek XC Ski Series – Race Report
January 16th, 2019

Fast and cold conditions met the racers for the January 16 edition of the Elm Creek races. A small but dedicated field was in attendance. The women's skate race was taken by Kylie Rischer, with regular Jenna Ruzich hot on her heels. Sliding into third was Alissa Johnson. Joe Martin took the men's field five seconds ahead of Ben Mullin, with Peter Cornell in third—all under 12 minutes. For classic, it was a double-header for Joe Martin, with Artie Huber double poling into second place, and Peter Cornell taking the 3rd place podium for the second time that night. Maria Hauer strode into first place by almost 90 seconds, with Alissa Johnson in second; Jenna Ruzich earned the third podium spot.
